COMING NAVAL CONFERENCE TO BE MOMENTOUS

United States Plans No Fireworks In Its Discussion

BY BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—As viewed in advance from Washington, the forthcoming London naval conference presents a picture in historic contrast to the memorable outlines of the gathering of the sea powers here in 1921.

President Hoover and the delegates who are to sail from New York tomorrow see a pathway beset by difficulties, to be successfully traversed only by patient plodding. They give every evidence of confidence in the ultimate result; but they recognize fully that circumstances and the methods of 1921 are not the circumstances and the methods of 1930.

Speaking a word of farewell yesterday to members of the delegation, the President adjured them to be patient, and called upon the country to bear with confidence and patience the ordeal of a diplomatic discussion which may last for many weeks from the opening session on January 21. He said no "hurried conclusions" were expected, but predicted that eventually the spokesmen of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy would find a common basis for ending naval competition and permanently promoting peace.

To Avoid Fireworks.

At London Secretary Stimson proposes a course of quiet, persistent effort, wholly devoid of diplomatic fireworks. Not only that, but if the expectations of the chief American delegate are borne out, none of the other powers will begin the negotiations by talking in detail of what they must have for national security, or by sounding any other note which might jar on the sensibilities of any of the conferees.

Certain physical features of the situation throw additional illumination on the parting words of President Hoover and the known purposes of Secretary Stimson. In 1921 the American government held, so to speak, a handful of trumps in the form of a great battleship fleet, regarded by American statesmen as beyond the absolute necessities of peace. The United States was able to lay on the table a momentous offer to restrict construction.

U. S. Behind Now.

But at London in 1930 the United States finds itself behind, rather than ahead, in certain unrestricted classes of warcraft, notably cruisers. There has been no hint that President Hoover is willing to sacrifice any considerable percentage of the fifteen cruiser building program. The Americans will have offers to make in other directions. They want the holiday in battleship building continued, they would be content with a limitation reducing destroyer strength, and they would like to abandon the submarine altogether. But the world's discussion of naval armament in recent months has thrust the cruiser in the very first rank of controversy, and it is at this very point that the American government finds a positive limit on its ability to offer reduction.

Although the President is charged with conducting the foreign affairs of the nation, the treaties he makes must be ratified by the Senate before they come into force.

Seize Half Million in Alcohol Raid in Philly Last Night

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Alcohol valued by prohibition administrator Samuel O. Wynne at more than half a million dollars, at bootleg prices was in the hands of officials here today.

The alcohol, together with 17 vats of liquor and several thousand dollars worth of distilling apparatus, was seized in a raid last night on one of the largest redistilling plants uncovered in this city since prohibition.

Three arrests were made. The alcohol, in 2,800 five-gallon cans, was loaded on four five-ton trucks for delivery to customers when the agents closed in on the two-story building.

Authorities said the building, occupied by the Belko Manufacturing Co., had been under observation for some time. They said the plant had been in operation several years, ostensibly in the manufacture of machinery.

Liquor raiders had found nothing at a Lynn, Mass., home and were about to depart when the family dog began digging furiously in the garden, unearthing a can of alcohol.

HENRY J. COX

Veteran meteorologist of U. S. Weather Bureau, located in Chicago for many years, died at his home there last night after an illness of over two years. He was a noted prognosticator.

MEXICO EXPELLS DESCENDENT OF "CONQUISTADOR"

Say Prince Sold Family Archives To American Millionaires

Mexico City, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Antonio Aragon Cortes, Prince of Pignatelli, who traces his lineage directly to Hernando Cortes conqueror of Mexico for sixteenth century Spain, has been ordered deported as a "pernicious foreigner."

The government charges that Pignatelli, whose title is derived from an Italian house dating to the twelfth century, has disposed of family archives, which are of intense historical interest to Mexico, to American millionaires and universities.

The newspaper Excelsior said some of the archives had been found in the library of the United States congress. Archives which the government announced December 31 had been turned over to it by Pignatelli were said to be only bills and administrative records of the hospital of Jesus, founded by Cortes, known familiarly as the "Conquistador," in 1526.

Hidden in the archives, or retained in the memory of the family of the Prince, and possibly one or two Roman Catholic priests, is the secret of the burial place of the remains of Cortes, hidden a century ago in the height of the feeling against Spain.

The Kansas State Board of Health estimates that more than 75 per cent of all Kansas children between five and fourteen have physical defects of some nature.

MAYOR'S VETO MAY SAVE FIRE AND POLICEMEN

Acute Money Situation Gives All Chicago A Real Problem

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The mayor, the council, businessmen and bankers were still scratching their heads today over the city of Chicago's acute money situation.

With fire fighting forces reduced because of inadequate funds the proposition of fire insurance rates became a matter of concern. With nearly 500 policemen discharged, fears against lawlessness were expressed. The health department, forced to do without the services of dairy inspectors and other aides, was urging that something be done to enable it to give protection to the public health. The board of education, to whom financial stringency is no new thing, was mapping plans to finance the continued operation of the city's public schools.

Mayor Thompson indicated he would veto the 1930 budget of $55,274,000 which represents a reduction of nearly $5,000,000 from last year. It was this reduction which necessitated the cutting of the fire and police department personnel and the reduction of manpower in other branches of the city government.

The Mayor's promised veto has given hope of restoring the fire and police departments to full strength, for the Mayor believes these branches of city government are not the proper places to practice economies.

DEMOCRATS TALK CAMPAIGN PLANS ON SENATORSHIP

Campbell and Lewis Prominent Entries; Jackson Day Banquet

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 8.—(UP)—The country's 1930 political season was gotten under way today with the gathering here of Democratic state chairmen to plan on the selection of a candidate for the United States senatorial nomination who will have the support of state leaders in the nation's first senatorial and congressional primaries—April 8.

The occasion for the meeting is the twelfth annual Jackson Day banquet tonight and it brought together the two candidates whose names have been most prominently mentioned—former United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago, and Bruce A. Campbell of East St. Louis.

Others who have either announced their candidacies or have been mentioned as possibilities include Fred J. Kern, publisher of the Belleville News Democrat, and James "High Heels" Kirby, Petersburg, Kern has not announced his candidacy but friends recently boomed him at Chicago. Kirby, a dry, has already placed his nominating petition in circulation.

A possible outline as to the battle plans of Democrats in this year's national elections may be contained in a message from J. J. Jett, chairman of the executive committee on the Democratic national committee, to be read at tonight's banquet.

United States Senator Thomas Connally, Texas, will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Others who will talk include Campbell, Lewis, Vincent V. Dahlman, Springfield, and Congressman J. Earl Major of Hillsboro.

Republicans swing into official action on January 13 when Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congresswoman-at-large and candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination opens her campaign at Shelbyville. She is seeking to unseat United States Senator Charles S. Deneen who eliminated her husband, the late Senator Medill McCormick, in the 1924 Republican primaries.

Mother Gives Blood To Her Gangster Son

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The mother of a wounded gangster lay beside him on the operating table early today and gave a pint of her blood that he might live.

James McManus, 32, had been shot and possibly fatally wounded in a mysterious street fight. Three guns had been found in his possession and his pockets were heavy with pistol shells. He has long been known to police as a gangster and hoodlum.

His mother, a woman of 50 years, slight of build, read of the shooting and went to the hospital.

SELECT JURY FOR TRIALS OF MAYOR HALE AND OTHERS

East Chicago Mayor, Police Officers and Others Fight Wet Charges

BY PHILLIP H. HARRIS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 8.—(AP)—The task of completing a jury today confronted attorneys in the trial of Mayor Raleigh P. Hale, of East Chicago, and other alleged conspirators against the national prohibition laws. A special venire of 25 men was under summons to appear before Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick and from among them federal prosecutors and defense lawyers hoped to select the one man needed to fill the panel tentatively chosen yesterday when eleven men were temporarily picked during the first session of the trial.

Mayor Hale, who began his second term of office only a day before he faced trial for conspiring against the Federal dry laws, is the central figure of the conspiracy case involving his Chief of Police, James Reagan, his chief of detectives, Martin Zarkovich, and 25 other citizens of East Chicago.

Mayor Hale is a practicing physician, devoting his mornings to the official duties which confront the Mayor and his afternoons to his medical patients. He was inducted into office with legions of friends joining in a reception as he succeeded himself. He appeared to be only a little perturbed by the fact that the government has charged him with a conspiracy against its prohibition act.

While both government and defense counsel expect to complete the jury today, the opening arguments likely will require the remainder of the session so that introduction of evidence probably will not get under way before tomorrow. The trial is expected to last until next week.

Eighteen lawyers, among them some of the leading members of the Lake County bar, represent the defense. Against this array, Oliver M. Loomis, United States district attorney, and Earl J. Davis, of Detroit, Mich., former assistant attorney general of the United States, will prosecute the government's case.

The East Chicago conspiracy originates in the nation's first senatorial and congressional primaries—April 8. Federal grand jury indictments, but 13 of them escaped trial either by dismissal or evading arrest. The 41 were among nearly 300 persons implicated by the grand jury in its investigation of alleged corruption in northwestern Indiana.

Hiram Shook, Polo Painter, Is Called Baffling Mystery At Northwestern; Girls Won't Talk

(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, Ill., Jan. 8.—Hiram Shook, well known Polo painter and paper hanger, died at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles W. Meyers, one and one-half miles southeast of Polo. His death, the result of heart trouble, with which he had suffered for some time, was quite sudden. Funeral services will be held at the Meyer home at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. C. W. Marlowe of the Christian church officiating, and with burial in Fairmount.

Mr. Shook was born in Pine Creek township, Ogle county, April 7, 1869, and was married to Miss Susie Smith of Polo Oct. 26, 1892. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Meyers, Mrs. Goldie Reed and Mrs. Myrtle Glenn, all of Polo; one brother, Samuel Shook of Sterling; and two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Burke of Mt. Morris and Mrs. Henrietta Lawrence of Little Falls, Mont.

Republicans swing into official action on January 13 when Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congresswoman-at-large and candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination opens her campaign at Shelbyville. She is seeking to unseat United States Senator Charles S. Deneen who eliminated her husband, the late Senator Medill McCormick, in the 1924 Republican primaries.

May Name McCord on Board Of Home for Disabled Soldiers

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A resolution to appoint Thomas C. McCord, Paris, Ill., as a member of the board of managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, succeeding James S. Catherwood, was introduced yesterday by Rep. Holaday.

Catherwood's term expired in February, 1925, but he has continued in office with no successor appointed, he is a Civil War veteran.

McCord served in Cuba in the Spanish-American War and on the Mexican border with the Illinois National Guard in 1915 as a Lieutenant Colonel. When the United States entered the World War, he was mustered out because of his physical condition.

Steam pressures now are as high as 1200 pounds per square inch for turbine units. This means that the pressure on one square inch would lift the average sized horse.

FORMER DIXON MAN ON TRIAL FOR ARSON NOW

Frank Sweitzer Faces Serious Charge In Tuscola Court

(Telegraph Special Service)
Tuscola, Ill., Jan. 8.—Frank Sweitzer, formerly of Dixon, was placed on trial here today on a charge of arson, on which he was jointly indicted with James Hudson, formerly Chief of Police at Arcola.

Sweitzer, after denying any knowledge of the crime before state and county investigators, is finally alleged to have confessed, naming Hudson as being in on the arson plot. He is said to have claimed that he received $5 of a promised $200 for burning a residence property in Arcola.

Sweitzer, who was paroled by County Judge William L. Leach of Dixon after being arrested, with Paul Wedekind, on a charge of chicken stealing, went to Richmond, Mo., some time ago. There he applied for aid, and was sent back to Illinois. Arriving in Arcola with his family he is said to have settled in a vacant house, which, at the instigation of the former police officer, he is alleged to have fired after sprinkling kerosene throughout the building while his family slept. After the fire he was arrested and his family sent to the poor farm.

There is keen interest in his trial, to testify during which a dozen citizens of Dixon, Amboy and Nachusa were called today.

Co. Supt. Miller Seeks Re-election

L. W. Miller, Lee county's most efficient and congenial County Superintendent of Schools, who has accomplished fine things in advancing the educational work of the rural schools of the county, today announced his candidacy for re-election to that office and his multitude of friends among the teachers, pupils and taxpayers will greet his announcement with pleasure and will work and hope for his retention in the office.

Prof. Miller has made Lee county's rural schools among the best in the state, and the annual teachers' institutes under his direction are among the noteworthy ones held in Illinois. When he was elected to office there was not a standard school in the county, today 107 of the 148 rural schools of Lee county have standard certificates issued by the state department of education, due largely to his untiring and understanding efforts. Lee county is fortunate in having a man of Mr. Miller's ability and calibre willing to devote his life to the betterment of its educational facilities.

Baffling Mystery At Northwestern; Girls Won't Talk

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 8.—(AP)—There is an old Chinese saying that women talk too much. It doesn't apply at Northwestern University, Prof. C. C. Cunningham has learned, much to his disappointment.

Prof. Cunningham coaches the women's debating teams. He gave out his call for women debaters the other day and then sat back and waited for the rush. "Speech," he said, "is woman's unchallenged prerogative."

Days, however, have come and gone, and not one woman has appeared to accept the chance not only to talk but to be encouraged to talk.

"I am mystified," said Prof. Cunningham. "Never has there been a shortage of women's tongues before."

Unless someone displays a desire to talk pretty soon, Northwestern won't have a women's debating team this year. And that, as Prof. Cunningham pointed out, is something to think about.

Supreme Court Fails To Heed Plea of Dr. Snook For Clemency

Columbus, O., Jan. 8.—(AP)—The state Supreme Court today denied an application of Dr. James H. Snook for a rehearing of his appeal from a sentence of death in the electric chair for the murder last June 13 of Miss Theora K. Hix. He is to die in the electric chair Jan. 31.

The court had denied Dr. Snook's double appeal from a conviction in Common Pleas court here. The former Ohio State University professor had sought review of the case on its merits and also filed a petition in error as of right raising a constitutional question.

The next step in the case is to the United States Supreme Court. It was indicated today, and it that body rejects the appeal Dr. Snook has put one possible hope of escaping from the electric chair and that is an appeal to Governor Cooper for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

BLOOD TRANSFUSION
Officers Harry Jones of the Dixon police force is in Granite City, where he was called by the serious illness of his mother, to whom he has given two quarts of blood in two transfusion operations. The first transfusion was performed Saturday and the second yesterday.

IS FEEDING BIRDS

Mrs. Harold Fuller of 1021 E. Chamberlain street, who every winter sees to it that birds which frequent her yard are well fed and watered, reports that in addition to seeing robins at the food this winter she has observed a blackbird and three cardinals, which come for their food at about the same hour each day.

CRACK FREIGHT TRAIN PILED UP IN BAD TANGLE

Wabash Right of Way Blocked by Piled Up Cars Near Bluffs, Ill.

Bluffs, Ill., Jan. 8.—(UP)—Workmen completed the task today of removing wreckage along the Wabash railroad right of way which was caused by the derailment of twenty-six cars of a fast freight train near here yesterday.

The derailment which is believed to have been caused by spreading rails resulted in the blocking of all traffic for 24 hours. Although twenty-six cars left the rails, the locomotive remained upright on the tracks. The cars which were derailed were piled two and three deep along the right of way, the entire string being confined to a space equivalent to six or eight car lengths. No one was injured.

Wrecking crews from Decatur and Burlington, worked almost continuously for 24 hours. Meanwhile trains on the road were routed over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road. The train on which the cars were derailed is rated as one of the fastest freight carriers in the country and it is generally given the right of way over passenger trains. The train speed is said to average higher than that of some of the fast passenger trains.

Will Condemn Land To Open Up Street

The board of local improvements, following last evening's city council meeting, ordered the City Attorney to proceed with condemnation proceedings to open one block of North Peoria Avenue from Boyd to Everett street, thus opening the street to the new bridge. Attorney John Armstrong was appointed to send out the notices of the proceedings and to spread the assessment for the improvement of the street when it is opened, and the County Court will be asked to appoint three commissioners, one of whom, under the law, must be the Mayor, to appraise the value of the condemned property and report to the court. At the city council meeting the semi-monthly bills amounting to $16,974.41 were ordered paid.

CRIMINOLOGIST QUILTS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Resignation of Dr. Herman M. Adler for many years head of the division of criminology in the department of Public Welfare, as announced this morning by Director Rodney Brandon.

The resignation is effective on January 5. Dr. Adler will be succeeded by Dr. Schroeder, who has acted as first assistant.

Dr. Adler resigned to accept a professorship in California.

NEGRO INDICTED FOR ASSAULT ON A GARAGEMAN

McReynolds Charged With Assault With Murderous Intent

The January grand jury reported to Judge Harry Edwards in Circuit Court at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, two true bills having been found by the inquisitorial body in its two days deliberation. William McReynolds, local Negro, was indicted for assault with a deadly weapon with murderous intent on the person of Clarence Shultz at the Riverview garage, and also for burglary and larceny at the Horton garage on the same night he is alleged to have beaten Shultz into unconsciousness in an attempt to rob the safe at the Riverview garage.

Oscar Steder, on parole from the St. Charles school for boys, was indicted for larceny. The customary term report on the county jail and court house was submitted by the grand jury, after which the body was discharged by Judge Edwards, who this morning read the docket and made up the trial list.

PURCHASER OF 'MONEY MAKER' SHOT TO DEATH

The Murder Automatically Stops Case Against Alleged Swindlers

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The state today indicated that the bullet that killed Jan. B. Hassever last night had automatically nolle prossed the case against five men, charged with extortion.

Hassever, 55-year-old cabinet manufacturer, was the principal witness against Police Sergeant William Begley and four other men who he charged defrauded him and then extorted money from him. As part of the investigation into his death, police were questioning Begley today.

The body of the manufacturer was found at the foot of a stairway leading from his office to the basement. The bullet had entered the top of his head, apparently fired by a person on the landing above. He may have been approached by his assailant in the office and been shot as he sought escape down the stairs, police suggested.

Pat Roche, Chief Investigator for the State's Attorney, believed Hassever had accepted bribes not to testify in the extortion case and then, after getting the bribe money, had decided to press the prosecution.

See Likely Motive.
Hassever's insistence that the five men are prosecuted, Roche said, is the only apparent motive for the crime.

The charges on which Begley and the others were arrested were based on the alleged sale to Hassever of a "money making machine." When the machine turned out nothing but wet pulp, Hassever wanted to complain to police, but was told that the government had found out about the "money making machine" and that he would be prosecuted unless he paid another sum of money to police officer who could "fix" it. Hassever notified police and the police officer who walked into the trap set was Sergeant Begley.

Six hours before the Hassever slaying yesterday, attorneys for Begley and the others obtained a continuance of their case until February 24.

Had Been Threatened.
Roche was told that threats had been made recently to Hassever by Howard Ward, one of the defendants. Ward, at liberty under bond, had not been found early today.

Joseph Yerkes, one of the four men indicted with the former policeman, was arrested at his home and questioned about the slaying.

Police said Yerkes told them of efforts the indicted men had made to have Hassever withdrawn the charges upon payment of the money he had lost, and said the man had refused to do so without the sanction of a court.

After questioning Yerkes police began a search for Howard Ward, another of those indicted. John Dobbin, the fourth man, was ordered arrested for questioning. The fifth man is J. E. Dewey, who is still in jail unable to raise bonds.

Jonesville Woman Believed Murdered
LaSalle, Ill., Jan. 8.—(UP)—A theory of murder was advanced by police here today with the finding of the body of Mrs. Anna Wysocki, 44, in her home at Jonesville, south of here. A 22 calibre rifle bullet wound was found behind her left ear. Coroner L. D. Howe continued his inquest into the death until tomorrow.

In Turkestan a wife can be bought for as little as a box of matches.

WINTER'S UGLY MOODS CAUSING MANY HARDSHIPS

Central and Western States Are In Grip Of Bitter Cold Wave

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Cold and colder read the weather forecasts of a dozen western states today as sleet, snow and falling temperatures engulfed an area extending from Manitoba and British Columbia on the north to Texas and southern California winter resorts on the south.

The Mississippi valley formed the eastern extremity of the hyperborean blasts which swept down from the north with such velocity that not even the cotton fields of Texas or the sunshine of the Southern California coast could halt them entirely.

Sleet made skating rinks of highways in Illinois. Snow covered large portions of Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and the Rocky Mountain regions.

In central Texas sleet storms drove temperatures down, thermometers in Amarillo registering as low as 14 degrees.

Points in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon reported heavy snows and freezing temperatures. San Francisco reported snows ranging from one to four feet deep in the Sierra Range and that the snow last night had extended as far south as San Diego, near the Mexican border.

Lowest temperatures were in Manitoba. At The Pas the mercury dropped to 44 degrees below zero. Other lows were Brainerd, Minn., 25 below; Devils Lake, N. D., 32 below; and St. Paul, 3 below.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Winter's ugly moods brought hardship and suffering to millions in central and western regions of the nation today.

Deep snow that drifted in highways harassed residents of the Pacific northwest and the Rocky Mountain region, while bitter cold prevailed all the way to the Great Lakes. Temperatures were milder in the eastern swing of the disturbance, with the central states reporting variations from zero to 20 above.

Oregon communities dug out from a snow blanket that had blocked highways and crippled train service and power and communication lines. Telephone and telegraph service had been restored between Portland and San Francisco after linesmen bucked drifts and icy blasts.

The cold wave, bearing snow flurries moved southward along the west coast to harass northern California today.

Heavy Snow In West
The western slope of Colorado lay under the heavy snowfall in 10 years. Scores of motorists were marooned and suffering was widespread. Snow of almost as great depth covered Wyoming, Montana, southern Utah and northern Arizona.

Zero and sub-zero temperatures prevailed throughout the mountain country. The mercury plunged to 40 below at Glasgow, Mont., and Miles City reported 22 below. It was slightly above zero at Denver.

Snow and sleet fell in scattered sections of the mid-west and the thermometer bobbed slightly lower. The Chicago area had fair weather, briskly cold.

MILD IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 8.—(UP)—New York continued today to enjoy unseasonably mild weather while all parts of the west were swept by blizzards and icy winds.

The warm spell, which carried a touch of spring-like balm in the air began yesterday and is expected to last until tomorrow, when it will give way to the cold wave from the west.

Central Illinois Traffic Slowed Up By Coat of Sleet

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 8.—(UP)—A steady fall of sleet which began late last night and continued until early today continued to hamper traffic on railroads and highways throughout central Illinois. Although able to traverse the highways, motorists who ventured on the concrete slabs, did so with extreme caution.

Railroad service was delayed several hours in some instances, and emergency men were kept busy throughout the night in various cities in this section where street car service is available. Street cars which usually conclude their day's activities at midnight were run on regular schedule throughout the greater portion of the night in an effort to keep the rails free from the ice forming sleet.

Tuning in on
by Walthill

THE "best minds" in moviedom seem to be concentrating on the task of making one night club look different from another.

"The Tree of Knowledge" has provided the movies with "The Sap" and "The Nut." Rin Tin Tin has the bark.

After long sleep as a stage personage "Hindle Wakes" to find the screen talking and herself a dumb photoplay.

Some "Dumb-Bells in Ermine" parade their finery in proof of "The Weakness of Men."

If "Clothes Make the Woman" there is promise of a more complete job in the new fashions.

"The Loves of Letty" make merry with Charlotte Greenwood in a new Vitaphone talkie and in the end they chorus: "So Long Letty."

Myrna Loy is one of several girls to whom Frank Fay makes love "Under a Texas Moon."

"One Increasing Purpose" is fine if provision is made to care for the increase.

"Pleasure Before Business" accounts for some successes and many more failures.

For "Double Feature" Day "On Your Toes" "Those Who Dance"

No one man dare undertake to say "What's Wrong With Women."

"The Girl Who Wouldn't Work" went into the movies in 1925 and, with "The Girl Who Wouldn't Quit," she's still there.

Pres. Hoover Takes Part In Social Life

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The Washington social whirl last night claimed President Hoover for its own.

Two affairs, a dinner and a reception, lured the chief executive from the White House to which, with a single exception, his social activities have been confined, ever since his inauguration.

The first of these was the dinner given annually for the President by the Vice President, held this year in Mr. Curtis' spacious suite at the Mayflower Hotel, with his sister, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, as hostess.

The second was the annual reception of the Congressional club, an organization whose membership is confined to the wives of members of the House and Senate. Not for three years had a president accepted an invitation to this yearly event.

Mrs. Hoover was unable to go along. A persistent cold which has troubled her since Christmas kept her indoors, upon the advice of the White House physician, although the ailment is not considered of a serious nature.

Custom in such cases decrees that the President's partner be the ranking lady of the cabinet circle. Mrs. Stimson, wife of the Secretary of State, was out of town, and so the honor fell to Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, whose husband, the secretary of war, is the most recent addition to the President's official family.

Dixon Chapter D.A.R.
In Pleasant Meeting

On Saturday, January 4, Dixon Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at the home of Miss Pratt, Mrs. Haefliger and Miss Martha Smith being assistant hostesses.

During the usual business session plans were made for the mid-February meeting.

THE PARLEY

TO-DAY I heard a parley of the crows
 At the wood edge, and one austere old fellow,
 In tones half raucous and mien half mellow,
 Declaimed about the onset of the snow
 "They'll soon be here and add unto our woes."
 Declared he, "for the blue birds and the yellow
 Have fled where the white tempests
 do not below.
 But the palm waves and the hibiscus blows.

Let us take wing and follow!" Cried another.
 As pert as Puck, as gay as Punchinello:
 "We cannot change our coats, dear
 elder brother,
 Nor make our voices like the violin-
 cello:
 A crow's a crow—of that there is no doubt;
 Why should we not be game—and stick it out?"

—Clinton Scollard, Poems.

Princess Marie Jose Now Humbert's Bride, Future Rulers Italy

Rome, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Princess Marie Jose, only daughter of the King and Queen of the Belgians, this morning became the bride of Prince Humbert, of Piedmont, heir to the Italian throne. The ceremony was performed at mass in the historic Pauline Chapel of the Quirinal palace, scene of four conclaves for the election of Popes, and scene six years ago of the wedding of Humbert's sister, Princess Yolanda, to Count Calvi Di Bergolo. Cardinal Maffi, Archbishop of Pisa, noted astronomer and friend of the Italian royal family, performed the ceremony. He was assisted by Monsignor Becaria, chaplain of the royal household, who baptized today's bridegroom and was his spiritual mentor through childhood and youth.

Five kings, five queens, twenty-eight princes and twenty-six princesses of the blood were among the guests, who constituted one of the most brilliant assemblages seen at any European court since the war. King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians, and Leopold and the Duke and Duchess of Brabant, and Charles, Count of Flanders, came from Brussels for the wedding. King Victor Emanuel of Italy, Queen Helena, and other members of the Italian royal family were present. King Boris of Bulgaria, Prince Cyril and Princess Eudoxia of Bulgaria, Prince Paul and Princess Olga of Yugoslavia, were among the other royal guests.

The Duke of York represented his father, King George of Great Britain, Marshal Petain, Saviour of Verdun, and M. Beco De Fouquieres, Director of the Protocol, were present for France. Ambassador John W. Garrett and Mrs. Garrett represented the United States. The infant Donferdinand was sent by his cousin King Alfonso for Spain. Premier Mussolini, his cabinet, secretaries and their wives were present. The bride, a tall, striking girl, entered the historic chapel on the arm of her father, King Albert, who was garbed in the full dress of a general. The wedding march was an old Sardinian hymn sung by the papal choir lent the royal family for the occasion. At the altar rail waiting for her stood the Crown Prince, resplendent in the full dress of a Colonel of infantry, and wearing the collar of the Annunziata, Italy's highest decoration about his neck.

Dark, of high stature, handsome, and with a pleasing smile, he presented a colorful figure in his gray green uniform relieved by silver epaulettes with their long fringes, the plaques and medals, and the long purple sash caught up just under the sword at his left. The bride wore a cream white velvet gown at ankle length with a mantle of the same material, seven yards long, and embroidered with ermine.

Cardinal Maffi, smiling benevolently, approached the royal couple as they went forward to the prie-dieu prepared for them before the altar.

Matrimony, the Cardinal told the princely pair, "imposes the reciprocal obligation of faithfulness and assistance." With just the suggestion of a friendly smile he told the heir to the throne that "the husband is the head of the family."

The nuptial mass was celebrated "according to royal prerogative." After reading the gospel the celebrant offered the missal to the King of Italy, who kissed it and returned it. The Cardinal, turning to the groom, asked:

"Humbert Nicholas Thomas John Mary of Savoy, do you intend to take for your legitimate spouse Marie Jose Charlotte Sophia Amelia Henrietta Gabrielle of the Belgians?"

The Prince responded, "Si!" meaning "Yes."

"And you Marie Jose Charlotte Sophia Amelia Henrietta Gabrielle of the Belgians," the Cardinal continued, "do you intend to take for your legitimate spouse Humbert Nicholas Thomas John Mary of Savoy?"

"Si!" answered the Princess.

Before answering the Cardinal's questions each turned toward parents for consent, which was given with a nod of the head.

Cardinal Maffi then blessed the rings of the two and they exchanged them. The Cardinal pronounced them man and wife and the mass went on.

Then arm and arm they marched down the central aisle of the chapel, bowing and smiling to the right and left the future King and Queen of Italy.

Humbert and the new Princess of Piedmont arrived at the Vatican twenty-five minutes late because of a great crush of people about the Quirinal. Police and soldiers had the utmost difficulty in clearing a way.

The Pontiff presented Prince Humbert with a beautiful tapestry made in the Vatican factory and presented Marie Jose with a gold rosary set with precious stones.

Lencioni left, bashed and abashed.

Miss Meroni is not one to let a person suffer in the cold. She aroused the household and Lencioni was brought in to have his bashed head fixed. Police were called and they asked Paul for more details.

"There were three men," he said, "and they took $200."

"You deceiver," said Miss Meroni, "you never had $200 in your life."

Thereupon Paul admitted he had not been robbed, but had taken a brick and bashed himself on the head to win her sympathy.

"Begone," she said, "and stay begone."

Lencioni left, bashed and abashed.

School Presented With Orthophonic

Well, the E. C. Smith school has a brand new Orthophonic Victrola, obtained through the co-operation and efforts of the pupils and the teachers of the school and the generosity of the Victor Co., plus the courtesy and efficiency of the T. J. Miller Music Co.

About a month ago the pupils and teachers started a campaign for obtaining used Victrola records, their aim being the acquisition of one thousand records, which they were to turn into the Victor Co. and receive in return a fine new $165 Victrola. It meant work and hard work. It is one thing to look at a pile of records and think, "there must be about fifteen records in that pile," and another thing to actually count them and then—be lucky enough to have them given you, by some kind-hearted housewife who read about the plan in the Telegraph, and then to travel on to the next place where maybe some more were given to the cause. One hundred records make quite a pile and mean work when they have to be gathered one by one, but ten hundred mean a lot more—so the children and teachers at the E. C. Smith school realize. My! but they are a pleased and proud gathering of teachers and pupils when the brand new Victrola is turned on to give forth its sweet strains, reproducing some of the talent of the finest artists in the world today; and then the Victrola is used also in a number of educational ways in various studies. The E. C. Smith school is proud of the Victrola and they have a right to be for they earned it.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Carl Wiegand, according to the testimony, refused Miss Grace Tomlinson's proposal of marriage so vehemently that she had him arrested for beating her.

Judge Alfred Erickson was about to say "90 days in jail," when a feminine voice from the rear of the courtroom shouted, "Stop!" The voice was Miss Sarah Cascio's.

"Let him go," she said, "and I'll marry him."

"Young man," said Judge Erickson, "you may choose your own sentence."

Wiegand chose Miss Cascio, and the court performed the ceremony.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Out of the night, Paul Lencioni's voice trembled up through the window of Miss Julia Meroni's room in Highwood. Lencioni was very fond of Miss Meroni.

"I am hurt," he cried. "Some robbers waylaid me after you quarreled with me last night, and I am bashed about the head."

Miss Meroni is not one to let a person suffer in the cold. She aroused the household and Lencioni was brought in to have his bashed head fixed. Police were called and they asked Paul for more details.

Golden Rule Class Meeting Enjoyed

The Golden Rule Class of St. Paul's Lutheran church held a very pleasant meeting last evening at the home of Miss Bernice Wilhelm, with Mrs. Ileen Edwards, Mrs. Alice Hoban, Miss Florence Koerper and Miss Wilhelm as the hostesses. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion.

There was a large attendance of members and friends, about twenty-four being present.

A short business meeting was held and devotions and a short program followed.

A feature of the evening was the happy surprise in the form of a miscellaneous shower for a bride of recent date, Mrs. Clarence Santelman, of Franklin Grove, formerly Miss Hazel Hoffman, who is a member of the class. She was presented a number of beautiful gifts with best wishes from everyone present for future happiness. Delicious refreshments were served and enjoyed. The entire evening was one of much enjoyment to all attending.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Levi Snively of this city are today celebrating their 70th wedding anniversary. They have been residents of this community for three-quarters of a century and are the parents of eight children.

Mr. Snively will be 93 years of age on Jan. 23 and Mrs. Snively will be 87 on Nov. 28. The couple will hold open house today.

MAKING AN "IDEAL HOME."

A recent building convention in Copenhagen displayed a conglomeration of ingenious devices that bore the collective label, "The Ideal Home."

There was an automatic rubber door mat, to begin with, that brushed the mud off of the shoes of any man who stepped on it.

Then there were rubber air mattresses on the beds. The dining room table had a glass top, to make tablecloths unnecessary. Doors and windows could be opened and closed, with no effort, simply by pressing buttons. A pneumatic tube was installed to whisk letters away to the postoffice.

The whole house fairly bristled with things of this kind. The press dispatches did not say whether or not there was an automatic gadget to put the cat out for the night, but apparently every other household chore was taken care of.

We seem to have made up our minds definitely that the machine is to be our salvation, in little things as well as big things. Yet why should that word "ideal" be tacked on to a proposition of this kind? Did domestic happiness wait, through all the ages, for the invention of the electric egg-beater?

It is obvious, of course, that this label, "ideal," is only a bit of sales talk, not meant to be taken seriously. But some people will take it seriously, just the same. The luxuries of a former day are the necessities of the present. Today's family is not contented if it lacks an auto; tomorrow's bride may flounce home to mother if her husband fails to provide an automatic window-opener and furnace regulator.

The whole trouble, when you stop to think about it, lies in the way that word "ideal" is used. It connotes a change in our attitude; a change whereby we elevate incidentals, meant to iron out the minor rough places in life's pathway, into items of major importance, ends in themselves, things greater than the spirit that lies behind them.

Making a home—an "ideal home," if you please—is at once the simplest and the most complex task any man faces. The statistics of any divorce court will prove that a great many people make a hopeless botch of it, and the half-scandalous activities of any quick-stepping country club married set will indicate that many more people don't meet with the success they once expected.

Yet the job is not so stupendous. A few simple, old-fashioned words, such as love, tact, kindness and forbearance, sum up the essentials.

Plainly, the man and woman who tackle this job don't really need the help of the manufacturer and the inventor. If they are not, in their own hearts, up to the task, the factories can't help them.

TROUBLE IN INDIA.

No spot on the surface of the globe will deserve, or get, such world-wide attention during the next few months as India.

If the present agitation culminates in the formal adoption of a declaration of independence by the nationalist group—as seems inevitable—practically anything can happen. It seems quite obvious that British rule may be about to get the severest test it has had since the Sepoy Mutiny.

Just how extensive the demand for independence may be is a matter for speculation. India has 300,000,000 inhabitants—but the vast majority is unlettered and ignorant, neither knowing nor caring much about the matter. The British have had vast experience in handling colonial problems, and the probabilities, of course, are that the approaching crisis will be handled with cool, unflustered competence. The immediate future, however, will very likely prove a trying time. The situation will be well worth watching.

Jane Cowl says she believes the theater is on its "last be-lowed legs." There seem to be quite a lot of them, however.

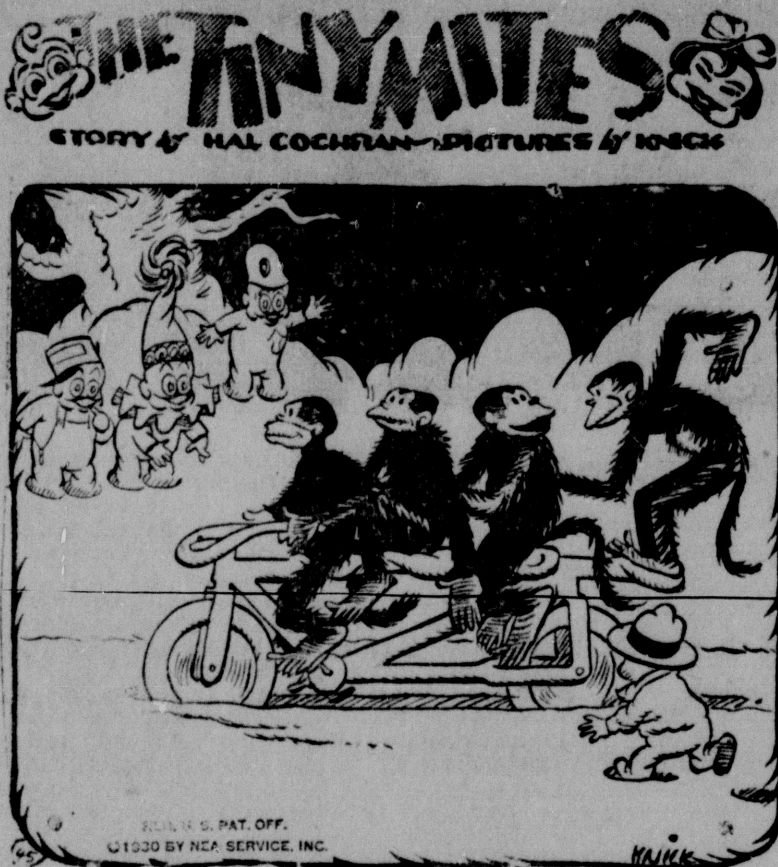

A Hollywood star was married in the conventional manner the other day, probably in the effort to get a little publicity.

We spend $600,000 each year to guard the mails, according to government reports. But even that doesn't prevent your receiving letters telling you all about that new remedy for bunions.

There were 1,500,000 people over 10 years old in this country in 1920 who could not speak English. Probably the influence of the sports pages.

For the 10 years ending with 1926 we passed 230,000 more laws than were already on the statute books. And one of those has been broken quite frequently, we understand.

It's fine for little folks to go sledding now, if they don't try to coast through life when they grow up.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The monkeys jumped out of their cage. At first they chattered in a rage. The Tynmites excited them. They knew not what to do. "These lads are friends," the bear man cried. "Now don't you run and try to hide. We merely want some tricks; so all this bunch can cheer for you." "Just take their bike and ride around, but do not slip upon the ground. Remember that the bike's not yours, and do not break the thing. If you perform in manner swell, at supper time I'll feed you well." One monkey then jumped to the bike with quite a startling spring.

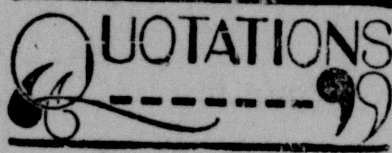

The others chattered in high pitch. It seemed they couldn't decide which of them should take the front seat. Then the biggest grabbed that place. The other three then hopped aboard. "They are off," the bear man loudly roared. And then he added, "Careful now and do not try to race." My, 'twas a funny sight to see

The monks, as proud as they could be, began to ride right through the snow, each one upon a seat. You see, there were four seats in all, and 'twas unlikely they would fall. "Oh they are clever," Clowny cried. "This really is a treat."

Around and round the monkeys went. About a half an hour was spent in simply riding up and down along a snowy lane. "Come on, do tricks," the bear man cried. "Step out and stage a fancy ride. I do not want the Tynies to be waiting here in vain."

The monkeys did as they were told. With their long tails they'd grab a hold of handlebars and everything and swing out through the air. It seemed, most any time they'd drop and take a very snowy flop. 'Twas so exciting that it gave the Tynmites a scare.

BATTLE OF NEW ORLEANS

On Jan. 8, 1815, the last battle of the War of 1812 between the United States and Great Britain was fought at Chalmette, near New Orleans.

After failing to batter down the American lines by a cannonade, the British, under Maj.-Gen. Sir Edward Pakenham, decided to try an assault, which was made the morning of Jan. 8.

The British attacked with spirit, but were met with such a heavy cannonade and with such a storm of bullets from the rifles of American troops, mainly backwoodsmen from Tennessee and Kentucky, that in less than half an hour 2000 men, including Pakenham, were shot down, and the assault failed.

The American loss was but eight killed and 13 wounded.
The battle helped to quicken the yet feeble sense of American nationality.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—The next regular meeting of the Rochelle Woman's club will be held in the public library club rooms, Friday afternoon, January 10th.

The program is on Legislation and Mrs. George N. Grieve is chairman. The speaker will be Miss M. L. Carpenter, of Chicago, and her subject will be "Current Legislative News." The music will be furnished by the Woman's club trio consisting of Mrs. Thomas McEachern, Miss Leah Cobb, and Mrs. Frank Zimmerman. Mrs. S. W. Hoen will be the accompanist.

A meeting of the Mary Monroe Service Guild was held at the home of Mrs. L. W. Masters on Main Street, Monday evening. Miss Mae Cullough reviewed a chapter on Home Missions and Mrs. A. T. Guest, one on Foreign Missions. Mrs. Howard Cooper led the devotions. The hostesses were Mesdames L. W. Masters, George N. Grieve, E. O. Miller, and Howard Cooper and Miss Helen Lazier. The society cleared about $32.00 on the candy sale at the Ladies Aid Christmas bazaar.

A Rochelle bowling team defeated DeKalb at DeKalb Sunday afternoon, 2796 to 2724, or a margin of 72 pins. There will be a return game soon.

The Iron Hat club held an initiation banquet at Hotel Collier, Monday evening. A special steak dinner was a feature.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hamaker and daughter, Miss Lola, left Saturday for a pleasure trip to Texas and New Mexico.

Mrs. Fred E. Gardner is planning to go to Florida for a portion of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown left Saturday for California.

Miss Minnie Cobb and Miss Lucile Kelley plan to leave Thursday for Florida. They will also visit in New Orleans before returning to Rochelle about April 1st.

Rev. O. H. Linneier, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church here, supplied the pulpit of the Immanuel Lutheran church at DeKalb Sunday evening. There is little change in the condition of Rev. Erdmann Frenk, who is seriously ill at his home. Rev. Frenk was taken ill with pneumonia about a week ago, following a severe cold, and his condition has been serious for the past few days.

Evening services will be held at the Presbyterian church here every Sunday night until after Easter.

New officers of Salome chapter Order Eastern Star were seated with impressive ceremonies at the Masonic Temple, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Harry Freeland is the new worthy patron. Other officers installed were: William Eckert, worthy patron; Mrs. George Castle, associate worthy patron; Mrs. Florence Peterson, secretary; Mrs. Carrie Barber, treasurer; Miss Frances Caldwell, conductress; Miss Josephine Buss, associate conductress; Mrs. Heath, organist. Points of the star: Mrs. Ada Sherwood, Mrs. Mary Price, Mrs. Gertrude Owens, Mrs. Marie Askvig, and Mrs. Hazel Dicus. Mrs. Anna Bouchard was installed as warden and William Bouchard as sentinel. Vocal numbers were rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blenfang and Mrs. Richard Turnroth. David Sherwood also rendered some excellent violin solos.

The newly organized Whitcomb Locomotive five will play a return basketball game with the Reynolds Wire quintette at Moose hall, Dixon, Monday, Jan. 27th.

Mrs. Josephine Antoine entertained the members of her club at bridge at her home, Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Helen Lazier was hostess to her bridge club at her home Tuesday evening.

Alonzo Maginnis was elected a vice president and Rochelle was placed in the west district of the Chief Shabbona area of Boy Scouts at the annual meeting held at the Methodist church at DeKalb Friday evening. A. E. Fahlund, of DeKalb, was re-elected president of the council.

Plans for the year 1930 were discussed at great length. The major objective of the year will be the completion of the organization of the Chief Shabbona area into four districts. Each district will have a central headquarters and will be the scene of many Scouting events, such as Courts of Honor and other programs.

The four districts will include the following towns:

North—Esmond, Fairdale, Kirkland, Kingston and Genoa.

Central—DeKalb, Sycamore, Cortland and Malta.

South—Paw Paw, Steward, Scarborough, Rochelle, Kings, Creston, Davis Junction, Monroe Center, Lindenwood and Holcomb.

Other officers elected were three additional vice presidents: Ray Ulery, Sycamore; Edward Tischler, Genoa; J. B. Stout, Shabbona. J. V. Patten of Sycamore, is scout commissioner and C. D. Thornton, Sycamore is treasurer.

Standing committees presented reports covering last year's work, showing that scouting is on the increase in the area and that the prospects for 1930 are very promising. Miss Helen Haselton is also confined to her home on account of illness.

Scouting was given material assistance in DeKalb and Sycamore by

"Fool-Proof" Plane Wins $100,000 Prize

Adjudged the most "fool-proof" of all airships, the Curtiss Tanager cabin biplane shown here has been awarded the Daniel Guggenheim $100,000 prize for safety. It was the only plane to pass the eighteen tests of the international competition. It has a slotted wing and so-called "floating" ailerons that are said to give it unusual lateral control while flying at near stalling speeds. The motor is of 110 horsepower.

those giving toward the community chest while in other towns financial aid was given in drives conducted by civic leaders.

Four hundred and eighty hunting licenses, 100 more than were issued in 1928, were issued by City Clerk R. L. Heydacker during 1929. Mr. Heydacker also issued 379 fishing licenses but only 26 trapping licenses, or 3 less than last year. The slump in trapper applications is due to an increase in the price charged for a license.

Mrs. A. L. Fogle is ill but is reported to be improving.

Mrs. Clarence Anderson will entertain members of her bridge club at her home Wednesday afternoon.

The abandoned Ford sedan which was parked on the Meridian highway about 5 miles north of Rochelle New Years day, has been claimed by O. Bonin, 1919 S. Fifty-first St., Cicero. The car had apparently been stolen by three young men who left it when it stalled or they run out of gas.

Sheriff Good, wife and daughter, of Oregon were here Sunday afternoon.

Charles White, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. White, and a graduate of Rochelle high school, has been promoted to a very responsible position with the Morenci Copper mines at Clifton, Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Furlong, who have been spending the holidays here, left Sunday night for a motor trip through the north central states. Mr. Furlong's territory as a traveling representative of the National Candy Co.

The Prince of Wales' Godson

He couldn't go big game hunting in South Africa with the Prince of Wales, but little David, son of Lady Alexandra Metcalfe and godson of the heir to the British throne, was at close quarters with a teddy bear when the camera man found him in a London park. David wanted to go along when the Prince left England the other day to resume his hunting expedition which was interrupted last year by King George's illness.

Where 7 Die as Train Hits Bus

This striking picture shows all that remained of a school bus, loaded with boy and girl basketball players and rooters, after it had been struck by a fast Pennsylvania train at a crossing at Shreve, O., killing seven and injuring nine. The victims, all of Burbank, O., were homeward bound after a game and a school victory song was believed to have drowned out the warning whistle of the speeding train. All the dead were boys.

"SHOOT" HIS PICTURES

London—William Hayter, South London artist, uses a system of painting his pictures employed by no other artist. With a revolver-like instrument he sprays pictures and portraits on his canvas. He can paint a square yard a minute by this system. He has also painted the walls of churches and moving picture houses with his "revolver."

THIS BUILDING IS DEEP

Tokio—Japan has proposed building a skyscraper "backward," or constructing it as far below the ground as those of America rise into the sky. One contemplated will be 80 floors deep, having a steel framework and in the form of a huge cylinder, 155 feet in diameter and 1100 feet deep. It will cost $12,500,000.

It is a curious fact that the best-tasting cigarette is the one in which no single taste quality is too evident. Over-mildness, for example—or over-richness—shows lack of "balance" just as plainly as harshness or bitterness.

On this basis, test Chesterfield. Aroma, smoothness, satisfying goodness, flavor, mildness, all present—but none emphasized at the expense of others. The one goal is taste—better taste, balanced taste—

THE BUILDING CODE

Comment on the building code, which without information as to the real meaning of it, and altogether extravagant statements as to the cost to prospective builders, leads me to believe that a short explanation of the code and the results it is expected to produce, would be accepted at this time.

Those who carefully studied and assisted in the preparation of the code did so with no other object in view than to protect the building public. Your inquiry naturally is, "Wherein are they in need of protection?" Experience either as one in the construction industry or as an owner who has purchased a home only to find himself soon disappointed on account of faulty construction and who has to either retain ownership and be dissatisfied or attempt to re-sell at his own loss or cheat his buyer, demonstrates the need.

Take for example the family in moderate financial circumstances; financing a home is the event of a life time. Saving, planning, and the economies attending, sacrifice of some of the comforts and many of the pleasures, but with compensating knowledge that they are going to have a home of their own and of their own planning. Then comes the sad truth. As payments are made, depreciation in many cases almost keeps pace with payments. Lack of knowledge of construction on the part of the owner must be admitted. The average owner does not know of the strength required, nor of the methods employed to forestall weakness. Unsafe and blundering installations of wiring, unsanitary plumbing and faulty heating installations as well as the other processes in building, are guarded against in the only way that the public may be protected aside from the employment of an architect with attendant superintendence which is most cases is expensive in the building of ordinary residences. Plans and specifications of course must be filed to secure a building permit. Then inspection by the "Building Inspector" at periods during construction must be made. Careful carrying out of plans and specifications where inspection is made entails less frequent inspections and of course less expense. Carelessness, ignorance or deliberate intent not to carry out the work as planned and specified are guarded against by compelling the contractor to remove faulty materials and workmanship and to comply with the filed plans and specifications.

The code is the simplest and most economical method of curbing an evil which has resulted in the loss of money and caused some disappointment to countless families. The discovery of this plan is not new and its application is becoming so general that contractors generally expect to be so regulated. Freeport, Sterling, DeKalb, Rockford, and in fact practically every city within our state has adopted a code for the regulation of building similar to or more strict than the one adopted for the city of Dixon.

Heretofore within the fire limits, an ordinance has been in effect for the submission of plans and specifications or buildings or alterations thereto. The writer has had occasion many times to make such application and to comply with that ordinance. The permit being granted, work might proceed without a representative of the city ever having visited the job to make sure that the work was being done in compliance with the plans and specifications as submitted, or that either the interests of the city or the owner were being served. The code takes care of this class of work. The necessity of extending this service to the residential sections is of equal importance. The fire hazard overlying of values, concern the neighbor as well as the owner of the property being improved or supposedly improved. The owner is protected; the neighbor is also protected.

As to cost, Permit cost is fixed by value of the improvement which on a value of $5000 would be $11.00. Inspection fees would be as low as possible consistent with the time used and the knowledge necessary to pass on the work intelligently.

The fairness, honesty and the desire to serve and protect the owner and the city are the foundations upon which this code has been based.

The party who is most concerned about the supposed added cost is one who fears he will not get his share of the work and whose sole excuse for using the building code is either ignorance or other ulterior motives.

Real interest in the owner's welfare would compel careful review of the ordinance instead of trying to bring fear of excessive cost to the minds of those contemplating building. The writer has been told of stories being circulated that $1000.00 would be added to the cost of an otherwise $5000.00 project. Such statements are so utterly ridiculous, that the inability of one making such a statement to comprehend its meaning, should be weighed carefully.

It is the opinion of the writer that from 1/3 to 1/2 of 1% will take care of a dwelling depending on the intelligence of the general and sub-contractors to whom you entrust your work.

This code has been carefully discussed and prepared and we feel that it is only fair to the public to give it this simple statement of the intent and purpose to serve it. No advantage is intended to be conveyed to any contractor or sub-contractor unless by experience or reputation they merit it. The appointment of the building inspector has been made and assurance is given that ability, honesty, and desire to be fair to all parties concerned will guide him in the performance of his duties.

Copies of the code are on file in the office of the City Clerk and its careful perusal by anyone interested is suggested.

Too much stress cannot be given to the statement that the builder in moderate circumstances, and apparently the one most affected, is the one who is really the most benefitted. The Associated Building Contractors of Dixon, Ill.

IN AWFUL AGONY OF RHEUMATISM

Mrs. Lawver Victim of this Miserable Affliction Years; Entirely Relieved by Gly-Cas.

Mrs. James A. Lawver, 399 Henderson St., Galesburg, Ill., is one of thousands of former sufferers who would frankly tell you that Gly-Cas, the amazing vegetable medical discovery stands alone in efficiency for the complete relief of that dreaded affliction, rheumatism.

"It was a real surprise to me how quickly Gly-Cas gave me relief and what it has done for me now is simply wonderful," says Mrs. Lawver. "I'd had rheumatism for years before. Was so painful at times I could hardly bear it and when I would go upstairs my knee joints actually cracked and popped and oh, such pain! I was also a continual sufferer from pains in the back of my neck which made my head feel like it was going to burst. I feel now that I owe a great debt to Gly-Cas for the relief it has given me, which is, of course, the reason for this public endorsement. The way I have changed, since taking this medicine is surprising. The terrible rheumatism has actually left me and I have no more of that former head misery, either sleep and rest well and simply feel fine. When I was hoping for mere relief, Gly-Cas ended suffering for me and certainly such a medicine I have never used before."

Gly-Cas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, Sold Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Aschenbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

SUNDAY GOLF UNDER FIRE IN GREAT BRITAIN

Lord's Day Observance Society Attacks Language of Final Bunker

Epsom.—(United Press).—Members of the English society for Lord's Day observance are launching an inspired campaign against Sunday golf. They assert that the ancient Scottish game is revolutionizing Sunday habits and may lead Great Britain along the same trail followed by Rome.

H. H. Martin, secretary of the society, says in an article given to London newspapers, "Sunday sport is the deadliest enemy to the Sabbath, and the worst offender in this respect is Sunday golf."

"Golf is being substituted for God. The language heard on golf courses on Sunday is not in keeping with the spirit of the day. Especially vile is the speech at the last bunker. When an easy shot is missed, or the score added, words of perdition are used."

"In short: Sunday golf causes the higher nature of man to suffer loss; it does injury to our fellow man; and it does disservice to the community."

CHICAGO—University of Chicago officials agree with President Lowell of Harvard that intercollegiate athletics should be curtailed, but do not believe limiting events to one game a year is necessary. Frederic Woodward, vice president of the University, said "we are in sympathy with President Lowell's views but do not believe it necessary to go as far as he urges."

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Notre Dame's cage squad edged a 30 to 29 victory over the University of Indiana Hoosiers here last night. The half ended with the score 12 to 7 in favor of the Irish.

HOLLYWOOD—Tommy Armour of the Tam O'Shanter Country Club, Detroit, considered one of the world's leading iron shots, today was the winner of the fourth annual golf tournament staged by Harold Lloyd, screen star.

Armour led a field of more than 60 famous golfers yesterday, and in winning the match set a new course record with 59 strokes for the 18 holes.

CHICAGO—The third annual invitation wrestling tournament of the University of Chicago will be held Jan. 10 and 11. Y. M. C. A.'s parks, settlement groups and playgrounds have been asked.

ANN ARBOR—The University of Michigan football team will meet seven teams in 1930 at home, Fielding H. Yost, athletic director, announced. Harvard on Nov. 8 and Ohio State on Oct. 18 are the only outside games. Purdue will play here Oct. 11, Illinois, Oct. 25, and Minnesota, Nov. 15, and Chicago, Nov. 22.

With the Cagers

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP) Nels Nordgren's University of Chicago basketball team, ninth place occupant in the Western Conference championship race last season, promises to be a tartar in disguise for conference rivals this year.

Showing great improvement with every game, the Maroons closed their pre-conference campaign impressively last night by defeating Ohio Wesleyan, 36 to 24, at Bartlett Gymnasium. The victory gave them three out of five so far this season, one defeat being at the hands of the Butler Bulldogs, conquerors of Purdue, by a 23 to 21 margin.

Notre Dame made another victorious invasion of Western Conference ranks last night, adding Indiana to its scalp, 30 to 29, in one of the most exciting games ever played on the Hoosier floor.

The Ramblers split even in a pair of games with Northwestern. Illinois' hopes of at least a first division berth in the Western Conference title chase picked up last night when Captain Douglas Mills scrimmaged with the squad for the first time since his illness. He may be in the lineup for the Michigan game Monday night.

RUTH BALKS AT $75,000 SALARY OFFERED BY CLUB

Slugger Demands Three Year Contract At $85,000 Yearly

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Babe Ruth thinks he worth $85,000 a year for the next three years to the New York Yankees but he has yet to prove his argument to the satisfaction of President Jacob Ruppert and Secretary Ed Barrow.

Ruppert thinks he can afford to pay the Babe $75,000 per annum for the next two years but that offer is exactly $10,000 too little and one year too short for the man who made home runs what they are today.

These two viewpoints couldn't be reconciled at a conference with Ruppert yesterday, each side retreating in good order to consider the matter calmly and sanely.

Baseball followers considered the biggest obstacle in the way of an amicable agreement was Ruth's demand for a three year contract. The Babe has just completed a three-year contract at $70,000 a year but Ruppert said yesterday he would not give Ruth another one on any terms. The Yankee president evidently feels that Ruth is getting no younger fast and that it would be to much of a gamble to give him such a long-term contract.

Two Years Limit

His "top offer," the Colonel assured Ruth, was a two-year contract at $75,000 per annum but the mighty slugger nonchalantly turned down this wage, equal to the salary paid to the president of the United States and $10,000 more than is paid to K. M. Landis, Commissioner of baseball.

Ruppert and Barrow said that the next move must come from Ruth. The Babe said he would leave Saturday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where the Yankees will train.

During the conference the Babe also complained about the number of exhibition games in which he has been compelled to play. It was understood the club was willing to limit these appearances in order to save Ruth's legs, which showed signs last year of going back on him. Ruth will be 36 next month and has been in the big leagues since 1914.

The slugger's salary has jumped from $10,000 to $70,000 per year since he joined the Yankees in 1920. Sold in that year by the Boston Red Sox for a sum reported to have been $125,000, Ruth played the 1920 season with the Yankees under a holdover contract calling for $10,000. He got $25,000 for his work in 1921 and $52,500 per year on a five year contract covering 1922-23-24-25-26. He signed a three year contract at $70,000 a year in 1927.

Scott Will Meet Sharkey In Miami

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, Boston sailor man, will battle Phil Scott, heavyweight champion of Great Britain, in Madison Square Garden's second annual southern spectacle at Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.

Difficulties were ironed out in a long conference at the Garden last night. Selection of Scott as Sharkey's opponent was practically dictated by the Boston fighter, generally regarded as the outstanding contender for Gene Tunney's vacated heavyweight throne.

Advance calculations on the match forecast a decisive victory for Sharkey, provided he can duplicate such a performance as he flashed against Tommy Loughran, whom he knocked out in two rounds. Scott is a fair boxer with a good left jab but he does not hit hard enough. It would seem, to better Sharkey, the tall Briton, now in England, is under somewhat of a cloud in this district as a result of his recent battle with Otto Von Porat. Scott won that bout on a foul in the second round but investigators later seemed to confirm a rather general belief that he was not hurt by the low blow and could have continued.

The Garden has been rather lukewarm to Scott as a prospective opponent for Sharkey, preferring Griffiths, Victorio Campolo or even Primo Camera.

The king of the Belgians was the first reigning monarch to take up flying. Both he and the queen had made several balloon ascents previous to 1914.

Viola Gentry, Out Again, Up Again!

To keep her pilot's license, she just had to get in several hours of flying this month. So almost as soon as she could leave the hospital, where injuries from an air crash confined her for several months, Viola Gentry, noted woman flyer, went up in a plane again. Here you see her just before she hopped off in an amphibian craft with Daniel J. Grimm, shown beside her, at New York. Note her right arm was still in a sling as a result of the forced landing which resulted fatally for Jack Ashcraft, her partner on an attempt to set a new endurance flight record last June.

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

THE PRICKLY PORCUPINE

One of the familiar inhabitants of the woodlands is the prickly old porcupine. Some folks, especially those from the big city, tear their shirts off in an effort to get away from this harmless animal whenever he is encountered along the trail.

Some guides in the northwoods say the porcupine is a common nuisance and shoot him on sight. There is little question but that he is a very stupid beast, devoid of fear, and an inveterate camp marauder. One can kick him or club him unmercifully, yet he will return again and again to forage and destroy.

The "porky" has an insistent craving for salt and will gnaw anything that has the least saline flavor, anything that perspiring hands have touched, such as an axe-handle, gunstock, canoe paddle, fishing rod or boat-oars and will run the article.

He is also very fond of leather and will chew up your saddle, bridle, gloves belt, sweat-band of your hat or any other sweaty cloth or rope. Foodstuffs that are salty or greasy are never safe from him unless hung up on wires or otherwise protected.

Porcupine quills, being barbed, are hard to extract from the flesh or clothing. When they break off they work deep into the body and have to be cut out. They are poisonous, to a certain extent, and cause severe pain.

Few farmers or sportsmen who own dogs have not experienced the time when "Shep" clamped his jaws over the back of a porcupine in an effort to crush out the life of the strange looking animal. Many men and boys have sat for hours with a pair of pinchers extracting quills from the lips, mouth and tongue of their favorite hunting dog. The lesson the dog learns is a good one in the event you reside in a territory where the porky is numerous, as he rarely bothers the spiny inhabitant of the outdoors after once getting his fill of sharp quills.

Don't fall for the age-worn belief that a porcupine can "throw" his quills any great distance. He merely possesses the ability to "drop" a few needles as he plods along in his effort to escape. His quills naturally catch on the bark of trees and brush and are sometimes accidentally picked up later by other animals or sportsmen.

these minor skirmishes, which will see Johnny, Farrell, former open champion, Joe Turnesa, a fellow member of the Ryder Cup team; Johnny Dawson, one of the country's leading amateurs; Charlie Guest, a California threat in the meeting, and many others of note seeking to finish under the wire.

The exemption list, replete with brilliant performers, is marked with such names as MacDonald Smith, Long Island professional, who in two successive years has taken the winner's money.

Another Smith—Horton—threatens the defending titleholder, not to mention Leo Diegel, professional champion, Walter Hagen, British Open king, Bobby Cruickshank and Harry Cooper, both former winners of the event, Al Espinosa, Bill Mehlhorn, Ed Dudley and a dozen or more others.

SUN SHINES ON LIL' ARTHUR AS HE WINS ANOTHER

The Charges Of "Fixing" Fight Likely To Be Dismissed

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The one and only Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires found the world full of sunshine today.

The fighter White Sox first baseman boasted a 750 percentage and his third one-round victory since invading the cauldron industry; he was $2,500 or more closer to the nest egg of $250,000, and the dark clouds of suspicion, which threatened his banishment from the ring and organized baseball, gave promise of blowing away.

His third successful ring venture in four starts was chalked up at St. Paul, Minn., last night when his furious, longshoreman rights flattened Tony Faeth, St. Paul pitcher, in the first round. It was a decisive victory for Lil' Arthur and the officials and spectators were satisfied to a man that there was no semblance of a "dive" in that ring battle.

Meanwhile, the Illinois and Michigan State Athletic Commissions were expected to clear the Great Arthur charges of "fixing" his bout with "Dangerous Dan" Daly of Cleveland here last December and of attempting to "fix" his postponed match with Battling Criss at Detroit.

Acquittal Likely.

The Illinois Commission took testimony yesterday from Promoter James Mullen, who arranged the Shires-Daly match, and Eddie Meade, manager of the "Dangerous One" and then indicated it would give Shires a clean bill of health. Shires was to appear before the Illinois commission today to tell his story and prompt acquittal seemed certain. Daly so far has refused to appear before the commission.

Acquittal of the charge made by Battling Criss, who said he was asked to take a "dive" and refused, is anticipated from the Michigan Commission.

120 YEARS OLD

Red Wing, Minn.—"Indian John" Smith, member of the Sioux tribe on Prairie Island, is said to be 120 years old. John Othertday, another tribesman, tells of how "Indian John" hunted with his grandfather 37 years ago when his grandfather was past 80.

The old Indian is lying helpless in the home of a relative, although he eats well and smokes his pipe.

Nurses when you need Record Sheets you will find them at the B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

mission, which is to hear Shires' story tomorrow.

If Shires is returned to good standing in Illinois and Michigan, his friends are certain he will make a quick trip to the White Sox for a contract in keeping with his confessed greatness for 1930. The Great One has announced he would demand a salary of $25,000 but it is certain the White Sox will balk at such a sum.

Secretary Harry Grabiner of the White Sox insists the club is not interested in Shires until he is cleared from all charges in his suspension for striking former Manager Russell "Lena" Blackburne last season has been lifted.

Reiselt Sitting On Top Of World

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Otto Reiselt, the smiling little German billiard-master from Philadelphia, once again is sitting on top of the three-cushion world with his second national title with his grasp.

Five of the world's best angle players have already succumbed to Reiselt's cool, consistent type of play. Today the Philadelphian found G. Copulos, a battler from Detroit, barring his way to his sixth consecutive victory. A win would assure Reiselt of at least a tie for the title with only Champion Johnny Layton in his path to a clear claim. The schedule brings Reiselt and Layton together Friday, in one of the last two blocks.

Reiselt's latest victory was at the expense of Allen Hall, youthful St. Louis star, who was defeated 50 to 42 in yesterday's feature. Hall's defeat, his first of the tournament, showed him down into a three way tie for second place with Layton. Technically Layton leads the other two as he has played one more game.

Promoters Freed By Seattle Jurors

NOTED WEATHER FORECASTER IS DEAD IN CHICAGO

Henry J. Cox Died After Illness Of Over Two Years

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Believed to have been engaged in weather forecasting longer than any other man in the United States, Henry J. Cox, 66, meteorologist of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago, died last night after a two years illness.

Although his first intentions were to become a physician, Cox has been a "weather man" since 1885, when, soon after his graduation from Harvard, he enlisted in the Army and was immediately assigned to the Weather Bureau, at that time a branch of the Signal Corps.

In Chicago Cox became widely known for his predictions of weather on the Great Lakes. He also inaugurated a special service for fruit shippers in Michigan, Wisconsin and other states.

Professor Henry Joseph Cox had been engaged in district weather forecasting longer than any other man in that service.

It was a combination of circumstances and incidents that led him into that work when as a young man his ambition was to become a physician.

The chief obstacles to his realizing the latter were the necessity of an immediate job when he was graduated at Harvard University and an early marriage. But he had been fascinated at Harvard by the course in meteorology.

Professor Cox began his career as a private in the signal corps of the United States Army in 1885. He went with the weather bureau when it was transferred from the army signal corps to the department of agriculture and in time attained the highest title in the field service—principal meteorologist.

In 1929 he rounded out 45 years of service in the weather bureau and 35 years as district forecaster in the Chicago district, which includes the Great Lakes region and extends to Kansas and the Dakotas. He was called from that service only on important research assignments.

Born in his father's small truck farm at Newton, Mass., April 5, 1863, Professor Cox attended elementary and grammar schools at Newton and was graduated at Harvard in 1884. He was active in athletics at the university, principally baseball, and one year was a member of the varsity baseball squad.

After his enlistment in the signal corps, he bought a copy of "Gray's Anatomy" and studied it thoroughly his ambition still leaning toward a career in medicine. The definite change came, however, in 1887, when he married Miss Mary Cavanaugh of Somerville, Mass. They had two sons, Paul and Arthur, both of whom served at the front in the American Army during the World War. Paul, a lieutenant in the first division, was killed at Soissons.

The first six months of Professor Cox's weather service was at a training school at Fort Meyer, Va. He spent a similar period in Chicago, then served a year and a half at Boston, established a forecasting station at Northfield, Vt., and served six years at New Haven, Conn. When the weather bureau was transferred from the army to the department of agriculture in 1891, Professor Cox was discharged as an observer sergeant, but remained with the bureau as a civilian employee of the department of agriculture.

He was an assistant at Chicago from 1894 to 1898, when the title of professor was conferred upon him. Eventually, he became principal meteorologist.

In the Chicago district for many years, millions of persons and dollars depended upon the daily forecasts of Professor Cox, forecasts which were especially important to shipping on the Great Lakes. Intimate with the geography of his district, he developed special weather service for corn and wheat growers and traders and for cranberry and tobacco growers of Wisconsin.

For two seasons he lived in the cranberry bogs of Wisconsin to study the crops in relation to the weather. His work resulted in a monograph which is used extensively in the raising of cranberries in Wisconsin, Massachusetts and New Jersey.

Another research conducted by Professor Cox was that to determine the thermal belts on the mountain slopes of North Carolina. Six years were spent in that work, which furnished the material for "Thermal Belts and Fruit Growing on Carolina Mountain Slopes." That volume is used generally for guidance in fruit growing on other mountain slopes. He published a number of other important studies in connection with his observations in the Chicago district.

Professor Cox took an active interest in the work of many scientific societies, chief among them being the Geographical Society of Chicago. He was president of that organization a number of years. During an international conference in England he was awarded a gold medal for his work in connection with weather observations and forecasts.

Not the least contribution made by Professor Cox during his long service

Two Sets of Twins in One Year!

Population of Lancaster, O., is rapidly increasing, thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kemp, who, on Dec. 31, 1929, became the parents of their second set of twins in one year. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp were married five years before their first set of twins were born on Jan. 4, 1929. They were boys and weighed 4 pounds each. The second pair was a boy and a girl. The son weighed 6½ pounds and the daughter 5 pounds. The Kemp family is shown above.

ice as a weather man has been his "debunking" of various get-rich-quick schemes based on long-time weather forecasting. He continually warned the public in his district: "It is impossible to predict weather more than a week ahead."

V. F. W. OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED MONDAY EVENING

Dixon and Sterling Posts United in Meeting In Latter City

Henry A. Cohen of Chicago, senior vice commander of the department of Illinois, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was installing officer at the joint installation of the officers of Burt E. Brown post No. 326 and the Horace F. Ortt post No. 540 of Dixon Monday night in the V. F. W. hall in the Academy of Music in Sterling.

The officers of the auxiliaries of both posts were also installed at the joint open meeting, some 30 members of the Dixon organizations being present and the hall was filled to capacity.

Past president's pins were presented to the retiring presidents of the auxiliaries, Mrs. Ida Wiles of Sterling and Mrs. Rose Nafziger of Dixon, and past commanders' badges were presented to the retiring commanders, Herbert Bowers of Sterling and E. F. Hamill of Dixon.

The retiring presidents and commanders thanked their associates for support given them and asked its continuance for their successors. The new incumbents briefly expressed their appreciation of the honor conferred upon them and promised their utmost efforts to advance the work with the help of the members of the posts and auxiliaries.

Officers of Horace F. Ortt post were installed as follows: Commander, D. Peckland; senior vice commander, George Platon; junior vice commander, George Walker; quartermaster, H. W. Sheldon; quartermaster sergeant, H. Durham; chaplain, E. F. Hamill; sentinel, Howard Tomkins; adjutant, C. D. Ramsey; trustees, Walter M. Smith, John Thomas and Prosper Benoit.

Officers of the Dixon auxiliary installed were: President, Lila Shearer of Grand Detour; senior vice president, Viola Strube; junior vice president, Elizabeth Portner; secretary, Mary Thomas; treasurer, Lona Hamill; conductors, George Parker, Chaplain, Mary Benoit; guard, Rose Nafziger; patriotic instructor, Ilini Pentland.

Sr. Vice Commander Cohen, Department Senior Vice Commander Cohen who is one of the most popular and most active officers in the department, being the leading candidate for department command at the state convention to be held June 19-21 at Charleston, was given a hearty welcome, and his efficient conducting of the installation ceremony and his address following the installation added to his popularity among the Sterling and Dixon Vets.

After a brief review of the accomplishments of the V. F. W. in securing help for veterans and their dependents, he gave a stirring description of the V. F. W. home for widows and orphans at Eaton Rapids, Mich., to which the Sterling and Dixon posts have both contributed. There were 70 children and their house mothers taken care of in the home this Christmas, each receiving many gifts. More money was donated than was necessary to supply them liberally, and the cash left over was pro-rated among the children in the form of bank accounts, which will be added to from time to time, to insure each child, after being raised and schooled, a small stake to start in life after leaving the home.

The children live in cottages, under care of house mothers, no more than eight children in one cottage. They live as near a real home life as possible, and have their own farm with their own Shetland ponies to ride and other provisions for their health and enjoyment, and they have their own busses to take them to school every day.

The Illinois department of the V. F. W. will this year have a liaison or service officer in Chicago ready to look after the cases of all veterans who require legal or other assistance in securing compensation they are entitled to. Last year 3000 compensation cases were looked after by the V. F. W. of Chicago alone, and the department has secured the services of an expert who has been in the work of the veterans' bureau for the past 10 years, who will devote his preliminary examining board drops a case, there is often no other course to take but to resort to legal procedure to secure the compensation, and this new feature of V. F. W. service is planned with the idea of giving veterans a much needed help not provided by the regular channels of governmental procedure. Senior Vice Commander Cohen urged both the Sterling and Dixon posts to increase their membership.

After the close of the meeting, the floor was cleared and dancing was served until a late hour. The ladies enjoyed refreshments and the members of the two posts and auxiliaries enjoyed one of the pleasantest of the many get-together gatherings they have held.

erns a much needed help not provided by the regular channels of governmental procedure. Senior Vice Commander Cohen urged both the Sterling and Dixon posts to increase their membership.

GADGETS HOLD LIMELIGHT AT N. Y. AUTO SHOW

Car Manufacturers Have Thought of Nearly Everything

By HARRY FERGUSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 8.—(UP)—When the history of automotive progress is written sometime in the next century, 1930 probably will be set down as the great year of the gadgets.

The gadgets are, to borrow a phrase from the salesmen at the 30th annual automobile show, bigger and better than ever. It had been hoped that a comprehensive report on the gadget situation could be made today, but a wayward reporter who went to Grand Central Palace strayed over into the fire engine section and remained there spell-bound so long that the gadgets had to be investigated hastily.

In passing, it might be well to say that fire engines still will be red in 1930, that the bells are slightly more resonant and that the 1,000-gallon-pressure-volume centrifugal pump is a thing of beauty.

Now for the gadgets. They definitely reflect the airplane influence. There is, for instance, the altimeter on the Jordan, enabling a motorist who is going over the Appalachian Mountains to learn at a glance that he is higher above sea level when on top of a peak than he was before he started up the mountain.

Ashtrays Everywhere

Take the airplane compass on the dashboard which makes it possible to go east when you want to go east instead of wandering off in an east-by-south direction. Clocks, of course, are scattered all over the new models and there are as many ash trays as there are trap doors in a Chinatown detective play. Ash trays slide out of the doors, spring out of the floor, unfold on the seats and jut from the windows until it all becomes quite confusing.

The day of the harsh motor horn is gone. Now they have horns that are tuned by musicians, so that with an average amount of rehearsing the driver can render the Melody in F-major while waiting for red lights to flash green.

Moonlight Tints

Headlights have been perfected to the "moonlight tint" with all the glare gone; soon the highways will be strips of moonbeams with radios in each car playing soft music. Some of the more expensive "jobs"—at the auto show everything from a monkey wrench to a Rolls-Royce is a "job"—already have radios and dealers predict that all cars will be so equipped soon.

The gadgets, however, reach their ultimate state in the Split Coach Corporation's "House on Wheels." A coach is equipped with four sleeping berths, a clothes closet, a refrigerator, a sink, a gasoline stove, clothes cabinets and cooking utensils. A person can live in one of the coaches indefinitely, stopping only for food and fuel.

"Where," asked a facetious bystander as he examined the coach "is the wine cellar?"

"Right here," said the resourceful salesman, pulling out a drawer neatly lined with straw. "We think of everything," he added triumphantly.

Indicted For Theft Miss Morgan's Coat

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Irene Thompson, 27, was indicted by the grand jury today for the theft of a gray lamb coat, valued at $1,500, from Miss Anne Morgan, sister of J. P. Morgan on December 20.

The coat was stolen from the Service Bureau of the American Women's Association Club and recovered last Thursday from the Grand Central Station checkroom, where it had been left allegedly by Mrs. Thompson.

Miss Morgan testified before the grand jury.

Wuxtry! Nancy's Hubby "Shot"

A much sought-after picture in Hollywood, since the meteoric rise of Nancy Carroll from obscurity to a position as one of the brightest stars from a box-office standpoint, has been a photo of Nancy and her husband. Nancy has proudly admitted having a husband but no one was able to lure them before a camera together. Here at last they are snapped at Los Angeles as they sailed for a vacation in Hawaii. He is Jack Kirkland, newspaperman and playwright.

PER CAPITA INCOME IN U. S. RISES SHARPLY

BY ALLARD SMITH
Vice President, The Union Trust Company,
Cleveland, O.

NO more certain indication of the growing prosperity in the United States can be obtained than the increasing annual per capita income of its citizens. The average new income for every man, woman and child in this country has increased by approximately $100 over the past decade.

In 1920 the per capita income was $693. As a result of the business depression coming in the latter part of that year and extending through the following year, per capita income dropped sharply to $587 in 1921. However, for the first time in history, it passed the $700 mark and stood at $712. In 1928 it was $745.

There is every reason to believe that in 1929, a record year for business in the United States, per capita income may equal $800. This prediction is based on a 12 per cent increase over 1928 in net corporate earnings, which greatly influence per capita income.

These figures have been computed from statistics furnished by the National Bureau of Economic Research and from the annual federal census estimates. As the majority of persons in the census estimates is composed of women, children and the aged, who are not employed in industry, the income of the actual producer was considerably greater than the per capita income figures show.

The reasons for this increase are, of course, many and involved, and space will not permit of their discussion. But the figures do show that the people as a whole are sharing in the increasing profits of American business.

RAILROAD MAN STAUNCH FRIEND OF NEW KONJOLA

Suffered Fifteen Years With Indigestion and Other Ills
—Praises Modern Medicine.

MR. HECTOR L. PAQUIN.

"For fifteen years I was the victim of stomach trouble," said Mr. Hector L. Paquin, 4536 North Hermitage avenue, Chicago. "I often wondered, as I tried in vain different medicines and treatments, if anyone ever had indigestion as bad as I had and got over it. I was constipated chronically and my system must have been fairly saturated with poisons and impurities. No wonder I became highly nervous. I could not rest well, and every morning I got up tired, worn-out and groggy. Sometimes I had terrific headaches all day long."

"To my astonishment and delight, two bottles of Konjola did me more good than all the medicines combined I had tried in fifteen years. Two more bottles won a complete victory over my health troubles. I am feeling simply great and never overlook the opportunity to tell what this splendid medicine did for me."

Konjola is sold in Dixon, Ill., at FORD HOPKINS DRUG STORE, 123 W. First St., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

U. S. PROVIDES COLLEGE TERMS TO DEAF MUTES

Ask More Teachers For Training School At Washington

BY MARTHA M. STRAYER
United Press Special Correspondent
Washington—(UP)—More than 40 young girls from 35 states are wards of Uncle Sam at a school occupying one of Washington's finest college properties.

These girls wear short skirts, bobbed hair and look and act like any other girls of their age. But all are deaf and some also are dumb. But for this institution, the Columbian Institution for the Deaf, subsidized by the government, they could never get college training. No other school in the country gives college work to deaf boys and girls.

Complicated Problem
The problem of training the girl graduates of this school so they can find jobs when they go out into the world, has become complicated. Uncle Sam has been asked to provide additional instructors so they can learn to be business women.

Boys who are their fellow students have less difficulty making a place for themselves, but the girls are finding it increasingly hard. Some are trained to be teachers of the deaf. This heretofore has been the chief avenue of employment for deaf college trained young women, but state deaf schools are more and more inclining to "hearing people" as teachers. There are nearly 3000 jobs of this kind scattered over the country, but only 400 are filled by deaf girls.

Some of the girls take library work and are employed in large libraries and scientific institutions, where filing and classifying can be done by them as well as by normal young women. Others learn expert dress-making, some teach in the winter and work in the alteration department of large stores in the summer.

Ask Business Teachers
The management of the school is asking the government to provide business teachers and business school equipment so the deaf girl students may be taught to run adding, calculating, mimeographing and other business machines. At present typewriting instruction is available, but not a complete business training.

The annual graduating class at this institution is very small—12 to 15 in all, including boys and girls—but teaching positions absorb only four or five of the girls each year, and for the rest there is the problem of finding some means of becoming independent. They come from 35 states and are awarded free government scholarships after passing special

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing office, attracts the interest of ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the firm. Knight is a reserved widower, lonely since his daughter, TONY, 18, and son, JUNIOR, 16, spend most of their time away from home. Judith fascinates Knight. He takes her to dinners and concerts. Meanwhile the girl continues to keep mysterious appointments with a young man known only as "DAN."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VI

SAILING down New York harbor was thrilling to Judith. She stood close to her husband, leaning against the rail. Sharp breezes buffeted her skirts and whipped crimson into her cheeks. Knight frowned (the sun shone in his eyes) as he pointed out familiar beacons of the skyline.

The yellow light hit the water and sparkled back again. It caught up diamonds in the spray and hung long shadows on the ivory whiteness of the decks.

Lower Manhattan, those amazing, pompous turrets. Telephone building, pyre-like Bankers' Trust structure. Woolworth. Equitable Trust, a dozen others. How they glared down on the murky river with its pretentious ocean liner, snorting, wheeling little tugboats, ferries and freight barges!

Past Brooklyn. Past the untiring Goddess who symbolizes freedom. On past Staten Island and then at last onto the gray Atlantic.

Judith, long, long after, could shut her eyes and still see clearly the panorama of the harbor unfolding just as it had that morning. The morning of her marriage to Arthur Knight.

He told her so much as they stood against the rail, anticipating questions before she asked them, delivering an elementary lecture on seamanship. He said he was among the last to leave the deck and go inside.

Judith was wearing her broad tail coat and the Agnes turban. She looked Parisian with the added dash of independent American girlhood. From topmost tip of the turban to narrow black suede toes she was groomed smartly.

Arthur led the way to their cabin. A bright-faced young steward obligingly assisted. A ship cabin? A veritable power of baskets and boxes of roses instead.

"Why—Arthur?"
He wheeled. Diplomatically the steward had ducked into the corridor. Arthur Knight and his bride were alone at last.

Judith found herself in her husband's arms. Arthur's shoulder so comforting, Arthur's kisses ardent and comforting, too. Arthur roughing her hair with clumsy, caressing fingers, whispering his adoration.

A prayer at that instant arose from the inmost center of Judith Knight's heart.

"Dear God,"
"teach me to love my husband."

She wanted to love Arthur Knight. With all her soul the girl wanted to love him.

Mrs. West was vivacious, generally popular, and she urged her friendship upon Judith.

JUDITH and Knight were both delighted to discover, as the trip wore on, that the girl was a natural sailor. There were stiff winds before the ship reached the gulf stream. The sea became so rough that portholes had to be closed.

Sea legs were as natural as land ones to Arthur Knight. Now he found that, no matter how the sea might pitch and roar, Judith was good for five times around the sun deck each morning. She enjoyed lazy afternoons in her stateroom chair, well tucked up in blankets.

They had their meals at the captain's table and Judith thought the slim, sharp-featured officer unusually interesting. He had so little to say but his words had such point. She was equally attracted by the ruddy, weather-stained bronze of his face.

Arthur Knight picked up acquaintances. He knew the ship's officers, found one or two men with whom he had had business relations, and he brought them all to Judith.

Knight fairly radiated pride when other men paid his pretty young bride compliments. The fact that Mrs. Knight was so constantly surrounded by masculine attention set tongues going in many a strictly feminine circle of gossip.

THERE were several other honeymooners on board. There was one other couple just married

Revamp Program For Stadium Show

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(AP)—With two substitutions made, the program of boxing bouts for the Chicago Stadium Friday night was revamped today.

Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, will engage Jimmy Owens, Oklahoma City, in a ten round instead of meeting Tony Vaccarella of New York. Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, replaces Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, in another ten rounder with Danny Delmont of Chicago. Bass withdrew because of a cold.

King Tut meets Bruce Flowers, the New Rochelle, N. Y., Negro lightweight, in the principal ten round match.

Hal Bardwell wants to talk Fire Insurance with you. Tel. 29, or better still call at his office, 119 East First St. 414

PLASTIC SURGERY
BY DR. JOSEPH SAFIAN,
Plastic Surgeon, Beth David Hospital
New York

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

A disfigured face is often the cause of extreme sensitiveness or dejection, akin, to a feeling of shame, on the part of young people, and has been known to drive a girl into the company of undesirable associates because those who would have formed "her crowd" found it hard to accept her as a close friend.

This sort of tragedy is no longer necessary, for Plastic Surgery can correct the cause. It is immaterial whether the disfigurement has been produced by an accidental injury or whether it is the natural result of excessive growth of bone and cartilage resulting in a large prominent nose. It can be corrected by plastic surgeons so that a normal harmony of the various features of the face is restored.

Plastic Surgery had its crude beginning in the middle ages but made little progress until exclusion of germs and later complete asepsis became recognized as an essential factor in eliminating the greatest danger in surgery—infection.

The World War left in its wake thousands of young men whose faces had been shattered by shrapnel and who could not return to the peaceful pursuits of civil life without causing a feeling of horror and disgust among their fellowmen. The most skillful surgeons in the world were called upon to use their surgical knowledge and ingenuity to restore the shattered features of those brave soldiers who would otherwise be doomed to a life of seclusion. Great progress was made in improving the technique and evolving newer methods, until today, Plastic Surgery has attained the recognition of the medical profession as a specialized type of surgery requiring artistic skill, besides thorough surgical training.

Almost any type of nasal deformity can be corrected by plastic surgeons without pain or danger of complications, providing the operations are performed in a regular hospital and under proper surgical conditions. Incompetent treatment is worse than none at all, but the most reliable surgeons are usually on the staff of a regular hospital and are known by reputation, by your family doctor. And they, although few in number, are "working wonders" for the victims of facial disfigurement.

DRY-CLEANED
A party of actors were discussing a co-worker who was out of a job. "The trouble with Smith," said one, "is that he is always untidy. He doesn't keep himself clean." Said another, with a trace of bitterness, "Well, he ought to be clean. He's always sponging." Bits.

SWINDLED
JAMES: There goes the old ras-cal who swindled me out of $50,000.
PETER: How did he do that?
JAMES: He wouldn't let me marry his daughter.—Answers.

I have you seen the sensational new CHEVROLET SIX

Those who seek the utmost in motoring satisfaction—at sensationally low prices—should see and drive the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History... now on display in our showrooms!

Here, by every standard of comparison, is Chevrolet's finest quality and greatest value—made possible by Chevrolet's large volume production and the vast resources of the General Motors Corporation!

An improved 50-horsepower six-cylinder valve-in-head engine! Four Delco-Loejoy hydraulic shock absorbers! Fully-enclosed, internal-expanding, weather-proof brakes! Stronger rear axle! New non-glare windshield! New dash gasoline gauge! And scores of other features!

Come in today and see this car. Drive it. Note how comfortable it is—how easy to handle—how flexible in traffic. And remember that it is now available—

--at greatly reduced prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume production has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public.

No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this greatest of all Chevrolets. Come in—see this remarkable new car—check its new features—ride in it—and judge for yourself the sensational value it represents!
